

Symbeosis

Medical Sales Representative

Symbeosis is a new company dedicated to making life better with high quality food products and food supplements. We share a vision of regenerating our economy, business, leadership, agricultural and beekeeping practices, health, diet and wellbeing.

Our philosophy is simply expressed by the motto; Love yourself, love your planet". This is more of a movement than just a brand. This movement challenges the concept of what it means to be a business today, by creating a new set of values in favor of our Earth and society, and a philosophy that preaches doing good for yourself and others, alongside our planet.

We are excited to recruit a Medical Sales Representative to join our team based in Athens, Greece, with primary goal to increase the visibility and awareness of company's products and maximize sales growth.

Job requirements

- University degree in Nutrition/ Biotechnology/ Pharmacy
- Experience in the Pharmaceutical Market
- Experience in homeopathy and/or phytotherapy will be considered an asset
- Excellent organizational and communication skills
- Ability to travel
- Ability to build strong professional relationships and teamwork skills leading to measurable results
- Fluent in both written and spoken English
- Loves and respects the planet and nature

Main Responsibilities

- Visits doctors and pharmacies according company's priorities.
- Providing Product information and introduce new products
- Collaboration with sales team to ensure a consistent marketing message
- Monitors competition by gathering current marketplace information.

What Symbeosis can offer you:

- An ethical work business environment
- An attractive, market-oriented salary aligned with your qualifications and above average wages
- A helpful and encouraging business environment that respects innovation and talent
- An individual and well-structured introduction and induction training
- Your professional and personal development will be supported because we believe in people

Please send your CV at careers@symbeosis.com

Please note that by sending us your CV, you agree to share the information with Symbeosis.

Love Your Self

Love Your Planet